TEACHING AND PRACTICING.

In the course of all my wanderings
O'er the land and over sea;
In the course of all my ponderings
On how things ought to be,
I've always found 'twas easier done
To tell how things should be,
Than it was to be a single one
To make my acts agree.

One writer will tell you how to live,
Without a single sin—
Yet he, sometimes, such oaths will give,
As ne'er before had been.
His precepts all are very good,
And many truths contain,
But often his example would Put all his rules to shame.

One man will tell you that your time
Should always be improved,
To spend no breath in useless rhymes,
That ne'er will be approved.
But while he tells you thus to shun
All hours spent in vain
The days are gliding one by one
Through which he has idly lain.

Another 'll tell you how to cleanse
The cares from off your brain.
But his alas! like other men's
Is racked with equal pain.
And though he may teach those around,
To live thus free from care,
You'll often find his brain abound
With many a tempting snare.

Thus thro' the world you'll find that those
Who try to teach the rest,
May sometimes be exempt from woes,
And sometimes face the best.
But if each one would try to make
Their rule and acts agree,
We should then more comfort take,
And less should disagree.

Select Miscellany.

THE SACRIFICE.

"There, Mary; now don't you think I deserve to be called a pretty good husband?" laughed the young man as he dropped down in the lady's palm half a dozen gold pieces.

"Yes, you are, Edward, the very best husband in the world," and she lifted up her sweet face beaming with smiles, as a June day with sunshine.

"Thank you, thank you, for the very flattering words. And now, dear, I want you to have the cloak by next Christmas. I am anxious to see how you look in it."

"But, Edward," gazing earnestly at the shining pieces in her rosy palm, "you know we are not rich people, and it really seems a piece of extravagance for me to give thirty dollars for a velvet cloak:"

"No, it is not, either. You deserve the cloak, Mary, and I've set my mind upon you having it. Then it will last you so many years that it will be more economical in the end than a less expensive article."

It was evident the lady was predisposed to conviction. She made no further attempt to refute her husband's arguments, and her small fingers closed over the gold pieces as she rose up, saying, "Well, dear, the supper has been waiting half an hour, and I know you must be hungry."

Edward and Mary Clark was the husband and wife of a year. He was a book-keeper in a large establishment, with a salary of fifteen hundred dollars. His fair young wife made a little earthly paradise of his cottage home in the suburbs of the city, for within its walls dwelt two lives that were set alike music to poetry, keeping time to each other. And here dwelt also that peace which God giveth to those who love him.

* * * * * * * * *

Mrs. Clark came into the sitting-room suddenly, and the girl lifted her head, and then turned it away quickly, but not until the first glance told the lady that the fair face was swollen and stained with tears.

Jane Hill was a young seamstress whom Mrs. Clark had occasionally employed for the last six months. She was always attracted by her young bright face, her modest yet dignified manner, and now the lady saw at once that some great sorrow had smitten the girl.

Obeying the promptings of a warm, impulsive heart, she went to her and laid her hand on her arm, saying softly, "Won't you tell me what is troubling you, Janet?"

"Nothing that anybody can help," answered the girl, trying still to avert her face, while the tears swelled in her eyes from the efforts she made to speak.

"But perhaps I can. At any rate you know it does us good sometimes to confide our sorrows to a friend, and I need not assure you that it sincerely grieves me because of your distress."

And so with kind words and half-caressing movements of the little hand, laid on the seamstress' arm, Mrs. C. drew from her lips her sad story.

She was an orphan, supporting herself by her daily labors, and she had one brother, just sixteen, three years her junior. He had been for some time a kind of under-clerk in a large wholesale establishment, where there was every prospect of his promotion; but he had seriously injured himself in the summer by lifting some heavy bales of goods, and at last a dangerous fever set in, which had finally left him in so exhausted a state that the doctor despaired of his recovery.

"And to think I shall never see him more, Mrs. Clark," cried the poor girl, with a fresh burst of tears. "To think that he must die away there, among strangers, in the hospital, with no living face to bend over him in his last hours, or brush away the damp curls from his forehead which mamma used to be so proud of. O, George, my darling, bright-faced little brother George!" and here the poor girl broke down in a storm of tears.

"Poor child, poor child," murmured Mrs. Clark, her sweet eyes swimming with tears, "How much would it cost for you to go to your brother and return," she asked at last.

"About thirty dollars. I haven't so much money in the world. You see it's nearly four hundred miles off; but you see I could manage to support myself after I got there."

A thought passed quickly through Mrs. Clark's mind. She stood still a few moments, her blue eyes fixed in deep meditation. At last she said kindly, "Well, my child, try and bear up bravely, and we will see what can be done for you," and the warm cheerful tones comforted the sad heart of the seamstress.

The lady went up stairs and took the pieces out of her ivory portmonie. There was a brief sharp struggle in her mind. "Somehow I've set my heart on this velvet cloak," she thought, "and Edward will be disappointed. I was going to select the velvet this very afternoon.—But then, there's that dying boy lying there with strange faces all about him, and longing as the slow hours of night go by, for a sight of a sister that loves him, and would not the thought haunt me every time I put on my cloak? After all, my old broadcloth is not so bad if its only turned. And I'm sure I can bring Edward over to my way of thinking. No, you must go without a cloak this time, and have the pleasure of knowing you've smoothed the path going down to the valley of the shadow of death, Mary Clark." And she closed the portmonnie resolutely, and went down stairs.

"Janet, put up your work this moment, there is no time to be lost. Here is the money; take it and go to your brother."

The girl lifted up her eyes a moment, almost in bewilderment, to the lady, and then, as she comprehended the truth, a cry of such joy broke from her lips that its memory never faded from the heart through all the after years of Mrs. Clark's life.

* * * * * * * * *

"George! George!" The words leaped from her lips as the sister sprang forward to the bedside where the youth lay, his white, sharpened face gleaming death-like from amid his hair.

He opened his large eyes suddenly, a flush passed over his pallid face. He stretched out his thin arms: "Oh Janet! I have prayed God for the sight of you once more before I die."

"His pulse is stronger than it has been for two weeks, and his face has a better hue," slaid the doctor, a few hours later, as he made his moaning visit through the wards of the hospital.

"His sister came yesterday, and watched with him," answered the attendant, glancing at the young girl, who hung breathless over the sleeping invalid.

"Ah, that explains it. I am not certain but that the young man has recuperative power enough left to recover, if he could have the care and tenderness, for the next two months, which love alone can furnish."

How Janet's heart leaped at the blessed words! That very morning she had an interview with her brother's employers. They had been careless, but not intentionally unkind, and the girl's story enlisted their sympathies.

In a day or two George was removed to a quiet, comfortable, private home, and his sister installed herself by his couch, his nurse and comforter.

* * * * * * * * *

Three years have passed. The shadows of the night were drooping already around. Mrs. Clark sat in her chamber, humming a nursery tune, to which the cradle kept a sort of rythmic movement. Sometimes she would pause suddenly and adjust the snowy blankets around the face of the little slumberer, shining out from brown curls as red apples shine out amid fading leaves in October orchard.

"Sh—sh," said the young mother, as she lifted her finger with a smiling warning as her husband entered.

"There's something for you, Mary. It came by express this afternoon." He said the words in an undertone, placing a small packet in her hp.

The lady opened the packet with eyes filled with wonder, while her husband leaned over her shoulder and watched her movements.

A white box disclosed itself, and removing the cover Mrs. Clark discovered a small elegantly chased watch. She lifted it with a cry of delighted surprise, and touching the spring the case flew back, and on the inside was engraved these words: "To Mrs. Mary Clark. In token of the life she saved."

"Oh, Edward, it must have come from George and Janet Hill," exclaimed the lady, and quick tears leaped into her eyes. "You know she's been with him ever since that time, and she wrote me last spring that he had obtained an excellent situation as head clerk in the firm.—What an exquisite gift, and how I shall value it. Not simply for itself, either."

"Well, Mary, you were in the right then, though I'm sorry to say, I was half vexed with you for giving up your velvet cloak, and you've not had one yet."

"No, I've not had one; but I never regretted it." She said the words with her eyes fastened admiringly on the beautiful gift.

"Nor I, Mary, for I cannot doubt that your sacrifice bought the young man's life."

"O, say those words again, again, Edward.—Blessed be God for them," added the lady fervently.

The husband drew his arm around the wife, and murmured reverently, "Blessed be God, Mary, who put it into your heart to do this good deed!"

Peace Principles.

A certain regiment was once ordered to march into a small Tylorese town and take it. It chanced that the place was settled by a colony who believed in the Gospel of Christ and proved faith by their works. A courier from a neighboring village informed them that troops were advancing to take the town. They quietly answered, "if they will take it they must." Soldiers soon came riding in with colors flying, and pipes firing shrill defiance. They looked round for an enemy, and saw the farmer at his plow, the blacksmith at his anvil, and the women at their churns and spinning-wheels. Babies and boys crowded around to hear the music and see the pretty trainers, with feathers and bright buttons. Of corpse, none of these were in proper position to be shot at.

"Where are your soldiers?" they asked.

"We have none," was the reply.

"But we have come to take the town."

"Well, friends, it lies before you."

"But is there nobody here to fight?"

"No; we are all Christians."

Here was an emergency altogether unprovided for, in military schools. This was a sort of resistance which no bullet could hit: a fortress perfectly bomb-proof.

"If there is nobody to fight of course we cannot fight," said the commander; it is impossible to take such a town as this."

So he ordered the horses' heads to be turned about, and they carried the human animals out of the village as guiltless as when they entered, and perhaps somewhat wiser.

Valuable Dog.

Mr. Chalkley Harvey, of Delaware county, has a dog that makes himself generally useful on the farm by looking after the live stock, day and night, and keeping it out of mischief. He is a shepherd dog, of the Scotch colley variety, and displays no more intelligence than other dogs except in his own particular department. He is ever on the look-out for something to do, and seems to think himself responsible for the general oversight of all the stock in the fields. If a horse is hitched to the fence where other horses in an adjoining field can tease him, Don is on the spot instantly and keeps all quiet.—How long he would remain at his post is unknown, but he never deserts it. Nor is it neccessary to command him to any such duties, he is always looking for a job. If two of the cattle get into a fight, Don runs to the scene of contest and settles the matter his own way by nipping their heels. If an unruly cow tosses the rider off the fence preparatory to further mischief, Don will probably know it at once, and not allow her to approach the spot again. If the gate is left open or the bars left down, he will see that no stock passes either in or out until he is told to come away.

Mr. Harvey heard him barking a long while last summer in a field behind a railroad embankment and out of sight. On going over to him he was found standing with his head towards home, barking for somebody to come and take charge of about half dozen cattle that were standing in a corner of the field. They had broken into an out field, and failing to get them out, the dog had driven them into a corner and was keeping them there.

A few nights ago he barked unusually much at the house for some time, then ran down to the cornfield where he was heard barking as if at stock of some kind. Again he came to the house in a great state of excitement, barking as before and again ran down to the cornfield.—Mr. Harvey being away from home, the urgent demand of Don for assistance was not heeded, and in the morning it was seen that a mischievous cow had opened the gate into the road and the bars into the cornfield, and that all the cows and horses had been within the field but had not done much mischief to the corn and none to themselves. Don had driven them all out of the cornfield into the road, and then tried to procure assistance to put them all into the pasture field again, but did not allow them to re-enter the cornfield. He is a small dog with a very thick coat of long hair, and sleeps on the ground, out under a tree in the lawn, even in the stormy nights of cold weather. Such a dog is of some use to a farmer, but it must be admitted that too often a dog is merely a nuisance on a farm about the house.—Chester County Times.

A Great and Glorious Country.

The following is a literal transcription of a letter found on the road, and sent to us by a correspondent who assures us it is genuine and no mistake. It appears to be from some chap who has moved to Mississippi. He says:

"This is a glorious country! It has longest rivers, and more of them, and they are muddier, deeper, and run faster, and make more noise, rise higher, fall lower, and do more damage than anybody else's rivers, It has more lakes, and they are bigger, and deeper, and clearer than those of any other country. Our rail cars are bigger, and run faster, and pitch off the track oftener, and kill more people than any rail cars in this and every other country. Our steamboats carry bigger loads, are longer and broader, and burst their bilers oftener, and the Captains swear harder than steamboat Captains in any other country. Our men are bigger, and longer and thicker, can fight harder and faster, and drink more mean whisker, and chew more bad tobacco, and not be killed, can spit more and spit further than in any other country. Our ladies are richer, prettier dress finer, spend more money, break more hearts, wear bigger hoops, shorter dresses, and kick up the devil generally to a greater extent than all other ladies in all other countries. Our niggers are blacker, work harder, have thicker skulls, smell louder, and need thrashing oftener, than any other niggers in any other State. Our children squall louder, grow faster, get too extensive for their pantaloons quicker than any other children in any other country.

Well, this is a great country! Hang a man that won't praise his own country. I have written you all the news that is in this country.

Yours, till death,
ANDY SKINNER."

DISINTERESTED LOVE.—Yes! man has a strong yearning for disinterested love; much more so than women. Once convince a man that you love him, truly for himself—for his own self—independently of riches, rank, station, position, or any of the thousand and one advantages which he is possessed of—only, I say, make him feel that, and you need not be very nice about the mode in which you go to work. Men are as voracious as boa-constrictors; they will swallow almost any quantity of flattery, provided always that it be offered at the right time. It won't do to flatter one man in presence of another. Be careful of that; but let a woman take the lucky moment, seize upon the right opportunity, and she may make a man—ay, in spite of his wondrous souse and reason—her slave for life.—Milicent Neville.

EDUCATION.—An educated man stands, as it were, in the midst of a boundless arsenal and magazine, filled with all the weapons man's skill has been able to devise from the earliest time:—and he works, accordingly, with a strength borrowed from all past ages. How different is his state who stands on the outside of that store-house, and feels that its gates must be stormed, or remain forever shut against him! His means are the commonest and rudest;—the mere work done in no measure of his strength. A dwarf will hew them down with the pick-ax; and he must be a Titan that hurls them abroad with his arms.—Carlyle.

☞ Imbecility is to be pitied; perverseness censured. Dullness should be treated with kindness; idleness and indifference reprimanded; and, if possible corrected. Where indolence has become a habit, the school room is not the place for reform. This vice should be met at home, where it has been formed. The school is often charged with vices which belong only to the domestic circle. Parents excuse their own neglect of duty by soundly rebuking the teacher or denouncing the school.

☞ Four things come not back: the broken word, the sped arrow, the past life and the neglected opportunity.

Very Dutch.

Two old dutch neighbors in Pennsylvania were proverbially steady and honest, and they carried on their transactions with their neighbors and each other for years, on the plan of ready pay in cash or barter. But at last the hard times came and they were obliged to resort to keeping accounts.

One day they met for a settlement, and after very hard labor and urging, it was apparent that Hans owed Yawkub twenty dollars.

"Well, Yawkub, how much we settle him now? I'se got no monish."

"Yaw, yaw; never mind dat, we can settle him mit a notish;" said Yawkub; who prided himself on doing business at the store.

"Oh, yaw mit a notish; well, den, you writes de notish."

"Dat ish nit right," said Yawkub, "you owes me de monish; you writer de notish, I sign him, dat is de way."

So Hanns set about it and produced the following.

Westmoreland kounty I owish Yawkub twenty dollars for settle up when I hash no monish to pay him.

Signed, YAWKUB.

Then arose an unforseen difficulty, who ought to keep the note.

It was finally decided that Hanns ought to keep it, for how else would he know how much to pay Yawkub.

In due time when Hanns the debtor got money he paid up, and this raised another puzzling question, and ended in the conclusion that Yawkub must take the note in his keeping, so that he would know that Hanns had paid him the money.

☞ Young men are very apt to compare themselves with those who are worse than they are, and this proves a snare to them, and often times their ruin, as it did to the Pharisee in the gospel, who pleaded his negative righteousness; he was not as other men are, exertioners, unjust, adulterers nor even as the publican; he stood not only upon his comparisons, but disparisons: being blind at home, and too quick sighted abroad, he contems the poor publican who was better than himself, making good that saying of Seneca, "The nature of man is very apt to use spectacles to behold other men's faults, rather than looking glasses in which to survey their own."

☞ We sacrifice the Present in regretting the Past that has already gone, and in tormenting ourselves about the Future that has not yet come. It is pretty much the same with a widow. Thanksgiving in Pennsylvania.

PENNSYLVANIA, SS.:

SEAL — IN THE NAME AND BY THE AUTHORITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

WILLIAM F. PACKER,
Governor of the said Commonwealth.

PROCLAMATION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The blessings vouchsafed by a kind Providence through the past year, demand our grateful recognition and again call for the sacrifice of Thanksgiving and praise. Under the protection of a Government that secures to all equal rights, we have pursued, unmolested, the various avocations of life, with more than usual prosperity. The earth, under the labors of the husbandman, has yielded her increase, and our barns and storehouses are crowded with the fruits of the harvest. We have not only been preserved from the ravages of the pestilence, but the past has been a year distinguished for health in our large cities and throughout all our rural districts. Our country has been preserved in peace. Our homes have been the abodes of tranquility, and blessings innumerable have clustered around our domestic hearths. Our various schools and seminaries of learning are diffusing throughout our community a higher intelligence, and imparting to our youth nobler aspirations. The institutions of our holy religion are well sustained; and under its pure and genial influence, the spirit of unity and love, the earnest of yet better days, is most happily developed. To God, the Great and the good, we are indebted, for all, and to Him let praise be rendered.

With these sentiments, and in accordance with the known wishes of many of my fellow-citizens, I, WILLIAM F. PACKER, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby appoint THURSDAY, the 24th day of NOVEMBER next, as a day of general Thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, and recommend to all our people to lay aside on that day, their customary worldly business—assemble in their respective places of worship, and unite in praising God for His excellent greatness toward us—beseeching His gracious goodness.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1859, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-fourth.

By the Governor: WM. F. PACKER.
WM. M. HIESTER, Sec. Commonwealth.

ELECTIONS.—The election in N. Y., resulted in the success of the Opposition State ticket by a large majority; they have also carried both branches of the Legislature. New Jersey has also elected the Opposition ticket by about 2,000 majority. Massachusetts has re-elected Gov. Banks by about 35,000 plurality. Maryland has elected three Americans and three Democrats to Congress.

Brown's speech.

The Clerk having asked Brown whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, Brown stood up, and in a clear and distinct voice said:—

"I have, may it please the Court, a few words to say. In the first place, I deny everything but what I have all along admitted, the design on my part to free the slaves. I intended certainly to have made a clean thing of that matter, as I did last winter, when I went into Missouri and there took the slaves without the snapping of a gun on either side, moved them through the country, and finally left them in Canada. I designed to have done the same again on a larger scale; that was all I intended. I never did intend to commit murder or treason, or destroy property, or to excite or incite the slaves to rebellion, and to make an insurrection. I have another objection, and that is, it is unjust that I should suffer such a penalty had I interfered in the manner which I admit, and which I admit has been fairly proved. I admire the truthfulness and candor of the greater portion of the witnesses who have testified in this case. Had I so interfered in behalf of the rich, the powerful, the intelligent, the so called great, or in behalf of their friends, either father, mother, brother, sister, wife or children, or any of that class, and suffered or sacrificed what I have in this interference, it would have been all right, every man in this court would have deemed it an act worthy of reward, rather than punishment.

"This Court acknowledges, as I suppose, the validity of the law of God. I see a book kissed here, which, I suppose, to be the bible, or at least the new testament, that teaches me that all things whatsoever I would that men should do to me I should do even so to them; it teaches me further to remember them that are in bonds as bound with them, I endeavored to act up to that instruction. I say I am yet too young to understand that God is any respecter of persons, I believe, that to have interfered as I have done.

"I have always freely admitted, what I have done in behalf of his despised poor race was no wrong but right. Now it is deemed necessary that it should forfeit my life for the furtherance of the ends of justice and mingle my blood further with the blood of my children and with the blood of millions in this slave country, whose rights are disregarded by wicked, cruel and unjust enactments. I admit so let it be done. Let me say one word further, I feel entirely satisfied with the treatment I have received on my trial, considering all the circumstances, it has been more generous than I expected; but I feel no consciousness of guilt, I have stated from the first what was my intentions and what was not. I never had any design against the life of any person nor any dispositon to commit treason or excite the slave to rebel or make any general insurrection. I never encouraged any man to do so, but always discouraged any idea of that kind. Let me say also in regard to the statements made by some of those connected with me. I heard it has been stated by some of them that I induced them to join me, but the contrary is true. I do not say this to injure them, but as regretting their weakness. Not one joined me but of his own accord, and a greater part at their own expense. A number of them I never saw and never had a word of conversation with till the day that they came to me, and that was for the purpose I have stated.—Now I have done."

Brown was then sentenced to be hung in public on Friday, the second day of December.

☞ On Monday last, a boy in New York, while on his way to the Park Bank, was robbed of $4,800 in Eastern bills, belonging to his employer, J. Frost, a broker. The robber dashed a quantity of spirits of turpentine into the boys face, and then seized the package of money, and escaped.

☞ A convention for prayer and consultation in regard to the means best adapted for promoting revivals of religion and advancing the interests of Christ's Kingdom in the world, opened at Bloomfield on Tuesday last. The introductory sermon was to be delivered by Dr. Junkin, of Hollidaysburg.

☞ The Lewistown Gazette says that the horse thief Murray, convicted at last Court in this county, is the same person who was convicted for a similar offence in that county, in 1846, under the name of Jack frost. Jack was also sent to the penitentiary, from Juniata county, some sixteen or eighteen years since, for a like offence. He must have a peculiar propensity for appropriating other people's horse flesh to his own use.

☞ A little scamp, five years old, stood at the switch on one of the Philadelphia railways, the other day as the car approached, threatening that if the driver did not give him a cent, he would move the switch and throw the car off the rail. The driver told him to clear out, but the boy stooped down to move the switch, and his hand was taken off by the passing wheel.

☞ Some gipseys, recently, who had been loitering about the house of Mr. Thomas Holmes, near Brentsville, Prince William county, Va., it is said, persuaded him to look into the case of a watch, in which was cloroform, and whilst he was laboring under the effects of the inhalation, took from him the key of his bureau, and stole therefrom a thousand dollars in gold with which they decamped.

☞ The Louisville Journal has no complaint to make against Gov. Wise's lenity in avowing his purpose to let Gerrit Smith off with a lecture, as a penalty for his abolition offenses.—The Journal thinks the being compelled to listen to the lecture a severer punishment than confinement in the Penitentiary.

☞ It is stated that J. Edgar Thompson, the present efficient President of the Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroads, has accepted the Presidency of the Pacific Railroad Company at a Salary of $30,000 per year. A pretty good salary we should say. About $5000 better than President of the United States.

☞ A Poetic Riddle.—The following is generally conceded to be the best riddle in the English language. The answer is contained in every line:

'Twas whispered in Heaven, 'twas muttered in hell,
And Echo caught faintly the sound as it fell;
On the confines of earth 'twas permitted to rest,
And the depths of the ocean its presence confessed;
'Twill be found in the sphere when it is riven asunder,
Be seen in the lightning and heard in the thunder;
'Twas allotted to man with his earliest breath,
Attends at his birth, and a waits him in death:
It presides o'er his happiness, honor and health,
Is the prop of his house and the end of his wealth;
Without it the sailor, the seaman, may roam,
But woe to the wretch who expels it from home;
In the whispers of conscience its voice will be found,
Nor e'en in the whirlwind of passion be drowned;
'Twill not soften the heart, and though deaf to the ear,
'Twill make it acutely and instantly hear;
But in shade let it rest, like a delicate flower,
Or breathe on it softly—it dies in an hour.

THE GREAT RESTORATIVE.

FEVER AND AGUE CURED BY DR. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS.

☞ Mr. Jonathan Houghman, of West Union, Park County, Illinois, writes to the proprietors, Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, that he had suffered greatly from a severe and protracted attack of Fever and Ague, and was completely restored to health by the use of the Liver Pills alone. These Pills unquestionably possess great tonic properties, and can be taken with decided advantage for many diseases requiring invigorating remedies; but the Liver Pills stand pre-eminent as a means of restoring a disorganized Liver to healthy action; hence the great celebrity they have attained. The numerous formidable diseases arising from a diseased Liver, which so long baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of the United States, are now rendered easy of cure, thanks to the study and perseverance of the distinguished physician whose name this great medicine bears—a name which will descend to posterity as one deserving of gratitude. This invaluable medicine should always be kept within reach; and on the appearance of the earliest symptoms of diseased Liver, it can be safely and usefully administered.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills, manufactured by Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa. There are other Pills purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of

MEDICAL IMPOSSIBILITIES.

For a long time a certain class of diseases have baffled the skill and practice of the most eminent members of the regular medical faculty. Foremost among these we might instance epilepsy or falling fits. Happily now by the skill and inventive genius of an eminent chemist of Baltimore, Md., this disease has been brought within the means of a cure. We allude to the preparation called the Vegetable Extract Epileptic Pills, invented and prepared by Dr. Seth S. Hance, of 103 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.—Since their discovery many persons who had given up all hope of ever being cured, have been restored to the full enjoyment of health. Prominent among these we might enumerate Mr. Farrison Lightfoot, of Huntsville, Alabama. Mr. L. has suffered as much from Epilepsy, as any other person in the world: never knowing what it was to pass a week without having an attack, and often falling in the streets of Huntsville. He is now fully restored and has not had an attack for more than a year. Dr. Hance's Pills have been the sure cause of this cure. These pills also cure all modifications of Fits, Spasms, Cramps &c., and are very serviceable for persons of weak nerves. Dr. Hance, sends them to any part of the country on the receipt of a remittance. Price, one box, $3; two boxes $5; twelve boxes $24;—Address SETH S. HANCE, 103 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

☞ Even those who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have need to have recourse to tonics as preventives of disease. We are never too well armored against the assaults of "the ills that flesh is heir to."—Such an invigorator they may find in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—a medicine that cannot be taken regularly without giving vitality and elasticity to the system. At this season, particularly, the strongest man is not proof against the malaria, in certain sections of the country. In all cases of fever and ague, the Bitters is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the Hostetter Bitters professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment, we cordially recommend an early application to the Bitters, whenever they are stricken by diseases of the digestive organs.

WM. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE!

The Original and Best in the World!

All others are mere imitations, and should be avoided, if you wish to escape ridicule.

GRAY, RED, or RUSTY HAIR. Dyed instantly to a beautiful and natural Brown or Black, without the least injury to the Hair or Skin.

Fifteen Medals and Diplomas have been awarded to Wm. A. Batchelor since 1839, and over 80,000 applications have been made to the hair of his patrons of his famous Dye.

WM. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE produces a color not to be distinguished from nature, and is WARRANTED not to injure in the least, however long it may be continued, and the ill effect of Bad Dyes remedied; the Hair invigorated for Life by this Splendid Dye.

Made, sold or applied (in 9 private rooms) at the Wig Factory, 233 Broadway, New York.

Sold by Druggists in Altoona, and by Druggists in all cities and towns of the United States.

☞ The Genuine has the name and address upon a steel plate engraving on four sides of each Box, of

WHAT IT WOULD TAKE TO FEED THE SUN.—A philosopher has calculated that the amount of light which flows from the solar orb could be scarcely produced by the daily combustion of two hundred globes of tallow, each equal to the earth in magnitude. A sphere of combustible matter, much larger than the sun itself, would be consumed every ten years in maintaining its wonderful brilliancy. It would be a splendid sight to see an immense transparency illuminated by means of one of these tallow globes, and having written upon it, "Buy all your garments at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut Street, above Sixth, Philadelphia."

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR STORE.—The undersigned would beg leave to announce to the citizens of Blair county and vicinity that he has opened his new Store on Virginia street, three doors below the Superintendent's Office, where he has just received from the East and West a large assortment of consisting as follows:

French Otard Brandy, Cognac Brandy, Peach Brandy, Cherry Brandy, Old Burgundy Wine, Old Port Wine, Jamaica Rum, Holland Gins Old Rye Whiskey, Monongahela Whiskey, and Rhine Wine, which he has himself imported. Retailers of Liquors and Farmers will find it to their advantage to buy of him, as he will sell at CITY PRICES.

He will also keep constantly on hand an assortment of

GROCERIES,

Such as Flour, Bacon, Salt, Fish, Tobacco, Segars, Syrup, Sugar, Coffee, &c., &c.,

All of which will be sold cheap for cash or Country Produce.

Our friends and the public generally are respectfully invited to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,

The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Gutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

Altoona, May 26-3m JACOB SNYDER.

INSTRUCTION IN DRAWING.—The subscriber, if a sufficient number offer, will form a class for instruction in Drawing, the course of which will include

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered

STOMACH OR LIVER,

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness Blind and Bleeding Piles, In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new hearth and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful roma has induced many imitations, which, the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

JUST OPENED

A STOCK OF

Entirely New Goods,

R. A. O. KERR

WOULD INFORM THE GOOD people of Altoona, the surrounding country, and the "rest of mankind," that he has just returned from the city with a large stock of NEW GOODS, which he offers at reasonable prices, at the stand formerly occupied by R. Kerr, and recently by W. O'Neal, on Main street. His stock is the only one in town which is

and he flatters himself that he has something to please the eye of every lady, and suit the wants of every gentleman. He deems it unnecessary to enumerate all the articles on the shelves, as to do so would require a whole newspaper, but would say that he has everything in the line of which this meridian calls for, and all just suited to the season, together with a well selected assortment of Hats, Furnishing Goods, such as Carpets, Window Blinds, Shades, &c., which will commend themselves.

FOR GENTLEMEN,

he has a great variety—from which they can not fail to make a satisfactory selection. He has also a tip-top assortment of and cheap as can be had this side of the place of growing or manufacture. Also, HARDWARE, QUEENSWARE, and everything necessary to complete a store in a thriving town like Altoona.

All he asks is that the people call and examine his stock, which he will at all times take pleasure in showing, and he feels confident that he can send them away rejoicing, if not in the purchase of just such an article as they wanted, at the remembrance of having looked upon the handsomest stock of Goods ever exhibited in the town.

LOCAL ITEMS.

INTRODUCTION OF GAS AND WATER INTO ALTOONA.—It is said by those who have supervision of the Gas Works, that gas will be manufactured and ready for burning and water ready to be supplied in our progressive town, some time during the first week in December. That this will be one of the grandest additions to our town, ever received, all will freely acknowledge, and in the scale of modern improvement will place us in advance of everything outside of the cities. Our business places will no longer emit the dim light of tallow candles and oil lamps, but send out a stream of bright, clear and welcome gas light.

Since the addition is of so much magnitude, would it not be well to introduce the grand affair by appropriate ceremonies. We have in our town a Lodge of Free Masons, Chapter, Council and Commandery, two Lodges of Odd Fellows, an Order of the I. O. of Red Men, a Division of Sons of Temperance, two Camps of the Junior Sons of America, two Military Companies and an excellent Band, a Fire Company and apparatus which is a credit to any place, six Public Schools, and other Associations. A grand parade of all these Lodges, Orders, Companies and Schools, would be one of the most magnificent sights ever seen outside of any of our cities, and we think all would unite in it, at least so far as we have been able to ascertain, everybody is in favor of it; and as such a demonstration without a speech would not be finished, we have those in our midst who could get up a nice little addres on the rise and progress of Altoona, which would make all feel happy and proud. And to climax the whole we would have a grand torch light procession and general illumination in the evening—those who have gas illuminate with it, and those who have not, illuminating with candles, lamps, or whatever they may see fit.

That Altoona is one of the most enterprising towns on the continent, all who have ever visited it will acknowledge. That we have the material to get up one of the grandest celebrations, no one will doubt, and we know that there is spirit enough in the people of this place to prevent it being a failure if it be once determined upon. All that is wanted is a start, and we will have it. Let arrangements be entered into at once—have a meeting of the citizens' called for Saturday evening next—have suitable committees appointed to perfect the affair and everything will go off with a hurrah.

Our Firemen want a chance to show themselves and their handsome machine, our military want an opportunity to turn out in their might, our associations of different kinds want an opportunity to show themselves, and the children, the hope of our country, want a holiday. Therefore, let the celebration come off. If this suggestion be entered into with spirit it will be all we have pictured it, and the archives of Altoona will contain the history of an inauguration of modern improvements which will be referred to in after ages with pride and pleasure; and that our neigboring towns will read an account of which will strike them with astonishment. Remember the first week in December.

ANOTHER TRIAL.—At four o'clock, on Saturday afternoon last, the Citizens' Fire Co., brought out their superb engine for another trial and perfecting themselves in working the machine. It was first worked at the crossing of Virginia and Annie streets and rendered entire satisfaction. Other trials in different parts of the town were equally successful, and fully satisfied all that in the engine and the company that worked it, they had a valuable safeguard in case of a visit from that destroying element—fire. Well may the Citizen boys feel proud of their machine—both as to its appearance and work—for certainly there is not a more handsome one in the country, nor one that can excel it in throwing water when it is properly worked. As a matter of course, the boys require a little more practice before they can make the machine do her best; but if they continue to run her out once a week, or more if required, they will soon learn all the "ropes." When the Company again calls upon our citizens for material aid, we feel confident that they can not refuse to contribute, because all must feel an interest in keeping up the company and perfecting all appurtenances which would contribute to her efficiency in case of fire. The attention of the members of the company is respectfully directed to a communication in another column, which certainly contains some very good suggestions.

THE MEETING.—The Protracted Meeting is still in progress in the Methodist Church, and we are happy to state with greatly increased interest and success. A number have lately came forward as "seekers," some of whom have found the "pearl of great price." The meeting having been kept up nightly for four weeks, many of those who have participated therein are much wearied and would be glad to receive assistance from other charges. We hope they may receive it, and that many who are now "halting between two opinions" may speedily choose "the better part," and the meeting be thus kept up yet another four weeks, or longer.

☞ It gives us great pleasure to copy the following notice of a heroic act, performed by one of our townsman, which we find in the Standard. Such coolness and presence of mind is worthy the highest praise:—

THRILLING INCIDENT.—HEROIC ACT.—Our readers will doubtless recollect reading a thrilling incident, published by us some time since, of an engineer, upon some western rail road, having crawled dowin upon the cow catcher of the engine and saving a child, which was playing upon the road, from destruction by throwing it off the track.

We are informed that an almost precisely similar incident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Friday last. As one of the freight trains east rounded a sharp curve, near Barree Siding, the engineer saw a small-child sitting in the middle of the track, playing, unconscious of its danger. He instantly whistled down brakes and reversed his engine, but the weight of the train and the high speed at which it was running, rendered it impossible to stop before reaching the child, which must inevitably have been crushed to death. In this emergency, when most man would have stood paralyzed with horror, the conductor of the train, Daniel McCoy, with a bravery and steadiness of nerve that has few parallels, ran to the front of the engine, crawled down on the cow-catcher, and, holding himself with one hand, leaned as far forward as possible, and as he approached the child, with a sweeping blow of the other he threw it off the track. It was the work of an instant, and required a steady hand and cool head to accomplish it, but he was equal to the emergency.

The train was immediately stopped, and on going back the child was found lying at the foot of a small embankment, some twenty or thirty feet from the track of the road, alive and kicking, but somewhat stunned and bruised. The child belonged to a farmer named Neff, residing immediately along the road. As may well be supposed, the parents were profuse in their expressions of gratitude to the noble hearted conductor, but for whom their child would have been carried to its home a shapeless mass of flesh and bones. All honor to Conductor McCoy—compared with whose disinterested act of heroism, the boasted feats of warriors sink into insignificance.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—We copy with reluctance the following item from the Pittsburgh True Press, of Wednesday last. Fain would we console ourselves with the belief that the surmises may prove incorrect, but alas, the plot continues to thicken, circumstances connected therewith pointing almost unerringly to the conclusion arrived at by the writer of the item.—Mr. Keesey was well known to many of the citizens of this place, and enjoyed the confidence of all who became intimate with him. The news of his fall, (if it really proves to be as surmised) astonished every one:—

Rev. T. L. Keesey, minister of the Curch of the United Brethren in Christ, residing in Greensburg, Westmoreland county, Pa., having a wife and five children, left home on the 29th of October, to fill an appointment for Rev. B. Dick, in Altoona, on the following Subbath.—He also intended to stop on his way in Johnstown several days. On inquiry it was ascertained that he had not been at either place, nor can any traces of his whereabouts be ascertained. Mr Keesey is an able and popular preacher—happy in his family relations—no man was more prudent and circumspect in his deportment, a most kind and affectionate husband and father. For some days before he left, he appeared to be gloomy and in deep trouble.—Simultaneous with his leaving home, a very handsome and fascinating young grass widow, also disappeared in a mysterious manner. The disappearance of the grass widow on the same day that Mr. Keesey left, has thrown a dark cloud around the circumstance and filled the hearts of his wife and friends with the deepest anguish. We hope, however, that a few days will explain the matter in such a manner as to relieve the character of the reverend gentleman from suspicions that now surround him, and restore him to that high position in the affections of his congregation, that he has hitherto occupied. Any information concerning him will be gladly received by his wife, Margaret Ann Keesey, Greensburg, Pa.

Messrs. Editors:—I am not entirely responsible for the torturing of "cat-gut" and "horse-hair" alluded to in one of your "pen and scissors" items of last week, as having occurred across the street, at the Book and Music-store. Some of the musical amateurs and performers on the violin, belonging to the borough, with the view, no doubt, of giving me a demonstration of their valor in the use of cat-gut and horse-hair, paid me a visit with their instruments, one or two evenings last week, and although it is the exception rather than the rule, in my store, to have much music until after business hours, in this instance, without giving offensive, a musical bravura was unavoidable.

If, however, at any future time, being immediately under the eye of your sanctum, in the trial of music or instruments, I should happen to send up a strain, please excuse

BOOKSELLER.

Altoona, Nov. 8th, 1859.

Hold on now, Mr. Bookseller, no excuses whatever. We are partial to the dulcet strains artistically extracted from feline intestines by the vigorous application of elastic filaments from the "narrative" of a valuable quadruped, and very much regret that your rule will not admit of a daily repetition of the harmonical sounds to which we so vulgarly alluded last week.

HANDSOME SHAWLS.—Every lady we know likes to sport a handsome shawl. You need not attempt to deny it, ladies; and we intend to tell you where you can find as pretty an assortment of the article as can be found this side of Philadelphia, and that is just beneath us in the "Model" store of Messrs J. & J. Lowther.—Ask any one who has examined their stock, and you will be told that they are magnificent articles, and more than that they are cheap for the quality. Call and see the shawls, ladies.

P. S. A fresh invoice of those handsome Cloaks, Raglan's, &c., have just been received, and we urge the ladies to call immediately and examine them.

LUTHERAN COLONY.—We understand that arrangements are being made to organize a Lutheran Colony, to emigrate to Missouri. G. W. Patton and Dr. D. R. Good, of this place, are the originators of the project. Persons wishing to unite on such an enterprise, or desiring information can confer with them until arrangements are more fully matured.

The object in attempting to organize a denominational Colony is to secure church privileges at once. It is not designed however to be exclusively sectarian.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due Capt. Cramer, the "Model Conductor" and member of Van Tries' Cornet Band, for complimentary tickets to the Band Concert, given in Hollidayaburg, on Friday evening last. We are sorry that we could not be in attendance, as we have since learned that it was one of the best concerts ever given in the country.

AN IDEA THAT MAY BE PROFITED BY.—We have often thought of writing an article similar to the one copied below, suggested to us in the same manner it was to the editor of the Journal; but now that our ideas have been so fully expressed we copy the article and ask for it a thoughtful perusal.

A gentleman called on us a few days since and subscribed for our paper, to be sent to a friend in a distant State, saying that it saved him writing letters, and would apprise his friend of what was going on in this quarter better than he could tell him if he should write; besides, he would save, in postage stamps and paper, in a year, more than the subscription would amount to. That was a sensible and philosophical man, but we know of scores who have done the very same thing, though they have not given us the reason in the same language. What better present can be made to a friend who has gone to another part of the country, than a newspaper published in the vicinity he has left? In it he will seek every week familiar things. The marriages and deaths will be looked for with deepest interest, while all the local news of his town or county will possess a charm that he never knew before. It will be like talking with an old friend, every time he takes up the paper. Still more, it will keep alive in him a warm remembrance of those he has left behind—a remembrance of friendly faces, of kind neighbors and scenes hallowed by associations the most dear of all that have been experienced in life. He will laugh over comical occurrences recorded of his neighbors, take a deep interest in their cattle shows, their Fourth of July celebrations, and all their public ceremonies. He will also rejoice over the list of marriages, and weep over the obituary of some old acquaintance. We know of nothing which can give more satisfaction to an absent friend, than a home newspaper! and to every one who wishes to keep distant friends or relations posted up concerning home matters, and at the same time save time and money that would be spent in writing letters, we recommend the idea suggested above.—Palmer Journal.

PA. CENTRAL R. R.—The editor of the Mercer Dispatch, who has had occasion to travel over the Penn'a Central Rail Road, makes the following mention thereof, in his last issue. No other road in the country receives so many and highly complimentary testimonials as the P. R. R. The Dispatch says:—

Having just returned from a trip over this road, we can add our testimony to that of all who travel on it, that it is one of the best, if not the very best, managed road in the country.—When a person starts on this road, he feels confident of arriving at the end of his journey in safety, and well conditioned; not so with other roads, where mishaps and break-downs are of common occurrence. We have heard it said that no traveller has yet been killed on a regular train on this road, although in a few instances the employees have. The same, probably, cannot be said of any other road in the Union, at least not of the same length. To all going eastward, we say, be sure you take the Pennsylvania Central.

DUFF'S MERCANTILE COLLEGE, IRON BUILDINGS, FIFTH STREET, PITTSBURGH.—The splendid new hall of this institution is in every way worthy of its long established reputation.—Duff's system of Book-keeping as here taught by its author, has long had the unanimous commendation of his numerous students of the American institute and chamber of commerce of New York, with four first premium silver medals from state fairs; silver plate and first premium diplomas from a number of state fairs, and the United States fair, with the first premium for best business penmanship by the last Ohio state fair, over nearly all the best penmen of the west, is a decisive verdict upon the superiority of the writing department of the institution. No institution of the kind in the country offers the commercial student the combined advantages of such teachers of book-keeping and penmanship.

☞ Harry Gray, that prince of Railroad Conductors, dropped into our sanctum on Wednesday afternoon last, and gave us the shake of a hand which every man grasps in friendship, for we think Harry has as many, if not more friends and fewer enemies than any man we know of. He stands the racket of a railroad conductor's life remarkably well, and is in a very good humor in consequence of the fine run he will have after Monday next. His train will be a favorite to travellers from this point. Success to Harry and the Fast Line.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.—The winter arrangement of running the passenger trains on the Pa. R. R. has been perfected and the schedules are out. An arrangement which would have better suited the citizen's of this place could not have been made. By it, all the trains arrive at this place at meal hours, consequently the "Logan House" will hereafter serve up six meals per day to passengers. For time of arrival and departure of trains and mails from this station, see schedule at the head of Local column.

THANKSGIVING.—At a meeting of the ministers of the different churches in Altoona, the following arrangement for religious services, on Thanksgiving day, were made:—A union meeting in the Lutheran Church, at 10½ o'clock A. M., when a sermon will be delivered by Rev. Sembower. A meeting for the benefit of the children will be held in the Presbyterian Church, at 2½ o'clock, P. M., at which short addresses will be delivered by the pastors of the different churches.

RETURNED.—We have heretofore neglected to notice the return of our young friend, Lige Taylor, who has been rusticating among the lasses down the road for the last month. He looks as though the trip had agreed with him, and he feels better prepared to serve up those delicious Cove Plant Oysters, a good supply of which he always keeps on hand at his saloon, next door to the Bank. Bob in and see him, all ye hungry.

☞ We notice that the "Great Southern" train between this place and Hollidaysburg is now under the charge of the handsome and agreeable conductor, Capt. Franks,—the "model" conductor, Capt. Cramer, being off on a visit to the City of Brotherly Love and other seaport towns. The countenance of Capt. F. is always welcome, as a conductor, to all who have occasion to travel by railroad.

COTILLON PARTY.—Tickets are out for a grand cotillon party at Stahl's Hotel, in this place, this (Friday evening.) Under the supervision of such a capital fellow as Alex. Vaughn, who will act as floor manager, the party can not be other than pleasant to those who enjoy such amusement.

The Fire Company

When the new Fire Engine was brought out for exhibition and trial on Saturday week, drawn by some 85 young men, clad in white shirts, black pants and glazed caps, with faces betokening happy hearts, no doubt from the consciousness that they would now be able, by its aid, to render material service in subduing the ravages of fire and thus add to the security of property and their neighbors happiness. I thought, as they passed me, these are noble fellows, willing to sacrifice time and risk life for the benefit of their fellow men, and will not fall into the many vices so common among firemen in our large cities, but will be an ornament to our town. An hour or two passes, and they have gone over our principal streets, and the machine is brought into service in front of the Presbyterian Church, for trial. She performed well, no doubt to the satisfaction of all. But what means this? Two of the firemen are walking rapidly towards the "Altoona House," and down they slip into the bar-room. In a few minutes they come out again, giving their mouths an omnious wipe, and return to the engine. This, thought I, is a beginning of Firemen's habits. After several trials in front of the church, the engine was taken in front of the "Logan House," and another trial made, after which she was housed. What now follows? I am sorry to say that these same persons who promised so fair at the beginning, to the number of 20 or more, are seen going into the aforementioned bar-room to partake of that which will create within a fire that cannot be quenched by water, and all the fire engines in the universe are not able to extinguish. Young men beware how you begin the fireman's life! you are exposed to dangers you know not of. Let no temptation draw you from the paths of sobriety and virtue. Surely it does not follow that because you are firemen that you must be a debauchee also? that because you are resolved to save your neighbor's property from the ravages of fire, you must partake of the intoxicating cup that will, in the end, consume your very bodies and sink them down to a drunkard's grave, and doom your souls to a world of endless woe? By no means. You are men, and as such at once resolve no more to follow in the steps of too many of your brother firemen of our large cities. Come boldly out and make your company one noted for the steady habits of its members and its usefulness to society.—Then those who have assisted you in procuring your fire aparatus will assist you again, if needs be. But on the contrary, if intemperance and rowdyism should follow this investment, be assured they will not be so ready to lend a helping hand in the future. Thus your usefullness may be destroyed and the good you may otherwise accomplish will be lost. That these remarks may have the effect to cause a watchfulness on the part of all the members of the "Citizens Fire Company," is the desire of a

WELL-WISHER.

CHANGED HANDS.—Scarcely had our paper of last week, containing a notice of the proprietor of the grocery, two doors below us, been circulated, ere the grocery passed into the hands of Geo. W. Cunningham, who now stands behind the counter, ready to wait on all who may give him a call, in the line of confectionaries, cakes, pies, fruit, nuts, oysters, potatoes, &c., all of which he will keep constantly on hand.—Drop in and make your bow to George.

☞ Rev. S. Creighton, will deliver a Sunday School sermon, in the Methodist Church, on Sunday morning next, after which a collection for the benefit of the Sunday School connected with the church will be taken up. All who feel an interest in this appropriately styled "nursery of the church" are expected to be present.

NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given to the Stockholders that the sixth instalment on the Capital Stock of the Altoona Gas and Water Company, will be due and made payable at the Banking House of Wm. M. Lloyd & Co., on Wednesday, November 16th, 1859.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Nov. 8, 1859.

MESSRS EDITORS:—On Friday evening last we had the pleasure of attending the Concert given by the Van Tries' Cornet Band, at the Court House, in this place. The performance was emphatically good: manifesting an improvement seldom, if ever, made before by any Band in the State, in so short a time. The audience though not as large as was expected, (from the amount of tickets sold,) was respectable and appreciative; and all left the Court House fully satisfied that Van Tries' Band cannot be greatly excelled. Great credit is due to Mr. J. P. Bowbotham their teacher, as an instructor, and a musician.

On the following evening we enjoyed another exquisite musical pleasure. Miss Kate Dean, the American Prima Donna gave a Concert in the Court House. Miss Dean possesses a pure soprano voice, of great compass, and bids fair to rank among the best of our Native Concert singers.

The "Camp Meeting" in the methodist church still progresses, and will no doubt continue the entire week. Services are held daily, after the fashion of Camp Meetings, and some good has been done. We hope the meeting will result in the saving of many souls, and the glory of the God over all. W.

FULL LENGTH STEEL ENGRAVINGS of WASHINGTON and EVERETT, including a VIEW of MOUNT VERNON in the Engraving of Washington. These splendid engravings are from the original paintings by Hicks, and are engraved on steel in the highest style of Art. They are each 25x35 inches, each containing six square feet. So many coarse, miserable pictures have been palmed upon the public as works of art—and especially in cheap, black and muddy engravings—that it is difficult to convince persons of taste that they are safe in ordering what they have not first seen. We have paid the first artists their own prices, amounting to many thousand dollars to produce engravings really beautiful, as well as the best portraits, and that shall be splendid ornaments to any.

☞ Opinions that can be relied on.

☞ The editor of the New York Observer says:—"These engravings are genuine works of art—the likenesses are admirable. The portrait of Mr. Everett will take precedence of all others."

☞ The New York Christian Advocate says:—"They are among the finest engravings we have ever seen, and the publishers are fully responsible for all they promise."

TERMS ALMOST GRATIS.

We will send, post paid, securely packed in rollers—

Either Engraving and a $3 Magazine, one year, for $3.

Both Engravings, and a $3 Magazine, one year, for $4.

☞ Agents who remit $20 at one time, will have an extra copy of each engraving. The Magazines are Harper's, The Knickerbocker, Godey's Lady's Book, The Atlantic, Blackwood.

☞ By special arrangement, the entire year's subscriptions to the Magazine is paid over by us to their publishers, and subscribers receive their supply for the year direct from their respective publication offices. The cost of the engravings is paid only by the difference between the lowest wholesale and the regular price of the Magazines.

☞ Engraving sent at once, and subscriptions to periodicals commence with current issue, unless otherwise ordered. Money at our risk if proof is retained of having been mailed. First impressions are best, therefore send early. Address, O. H. BAILEY & CO.,

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

The Tribune—now more than eighteen years old and having ever Two hundred Thousand subscribers, of constant purchasers, diffused through every State and Territory of our Union—will continue in essence what it has been—the earnest champion of Liberty, Progress, and of whatever will conduce to our national growth in Virtue, Industry, Knowledge, and Prosperity. It will continue to urge the emancipation not only of the Black laborer from chattelism and legal impotence, but of the White likewise from Land Monopoly, Intemperance, Ignorance, and that dependence on remote Markets which paralyses exertion by denying to Toil any adequate and morally certain reward. Believing that the chief evil of our time is the inordinate multiplication and disproportion of Non-Producers, it will continue to war against whatever tends to degrade Manual Labor or deprive it of its just and full recompense. It will indefinitely commend the policy of winning hither from Europe the Useful Arts, and, wherever they may be needed, the Artisans as well, for whose products our country is now running recklessly into debt, while our laborers roam in fruitless quest of employment, leaving their children in want of bread, though the farmer is too often compelled to sell his crops at most inadequate prices. In short, while battling against Filibusterism and every other manifestation of that evil spirit which seeks through the spoliation of other countries that aggrandizement which is to be truly attained only through the due development and cultivation of our internal resources, it will urgently advocate a more effectively discriminating Tariff, the Freedom of the Public Lands, the construction of a Railroad from the navigable waters of the Mississippi to those of the Pacific, and every other measure which seems to us calculated to enhance the dignity or the recompense of Labor and promote the well-being of Mankind.

The "irrepressible conflict" between Darkness and Light, Inertia and Progress, Slavery and Freedom, moves steadily onward. Isolated acts of folly and madness may for the moment give a seeming advantage to Wrong; but God still reigns, and the Ages are true to Humanity and Right. The year 1860 must witness a memorable conflict between these irreconcilable antagonists. The question—"Shall Human Slavery be further strengthened and diffused by the power and under the flag of the Federal Union?" is now to receive a momentous if not conclusive answer.—"Land for the Landless, verum Negroes for the Negroes," is the battle-cry of the embodied Millions who, having just swept Pennsylvania, Ohio and the North-West, appear in the new Congress, backed by nearly every Free State, to demand a recognition of every man's right to cultivate and improve a modicum of the earth's surface wherever he has not been anticipated by the State's cession to another.—Free Homes, and the consecration of the virgin soil of the Territories to Free Labor—two requirements, but one policy—must largely absorb the attention of Congress through the ensuing session, as of the People in the succeeding Presidential canvass; and, whatever the immediate issue, we cannot doubt that the ultimate verdict will be in accord at once with the dictates of impartial Philanthropy and the indefeasible Rights of Man.

Having made arrangements for fuller and more graphic reports of the doings of Congress, and of whatever else transpiring at the Federal Metropolis shall seem worthy of public regard, and having extended both our Foreign and Domestic Correspondence and strengthened our Editorial staff, we believe THE TRIBUNE may safely challenge a comparison with any rival, whether as an exponent of principles or as a reliable mirror of the passing world. We purpose not to be surpassed nor anticipated in the collection or presentation of intelligence, though we eschew that reputation for enterprise which is acquired by bribing messengers and clerks in public offices to connive at the premature publication of treaties or other official documents. We prize accuracy of statement quite as highly as promptitude, but endeavor not to sacrifice the latter while securing the former. Essentially, THE TRIBUNE will be what it has been, while we shall constantly study to improve its every feature, and to "make each day a critic on the last." The general verdict of the Press and the Public has affirmed the success of our past labors, and those of the future shall be characterized by equal earnestness and assiduity. We ask those who believe the general influence of our Journal to be salutary to aid us in extending that influence through the increase of our subscriptions.

THE NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE

is printed on a large imperial sheet, and published every morning and evening (Sundays excepted). It contains Editorials on the topics of the times, employing a large corps of the best newspaper writers of the day; Domestic and Foreign Correspondence; Proceedings of Congress; Reports of Lectures; City News; Cattle, Horse, and Produce Markets; Reviews of Book; Literary Intelligence; Papers on Mechanics and the Arts, &c., &c. We strive to make THE TRIBUNE a newspaper to meet the wants of the public—its Telegraphic news alone costing over $15,000 per annum.

TERMS:

THE DAILY TRIBUNE is mailed to subscribers at $6 per annum, in advance; $3 for six months.

THE NEW-YORK SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

is published every Tuesday and Friday, and contains all the Editorials of the Daily, with the Cattle, Horse, and General Markets, reliably reported expressly for THE TRIBUNE; Foreign and Domestic Correspondence; and during the sessions of Congress it contains a summary of Congressional doings, with the more important speeches. We shall, as heretofore, make THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE a Literary, as well as a political newspaper, and we are determined that it shall remain in the front rank of family papers.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

Fever and Ague.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT.

Read the following Certificates to the Efficacy of this Medicine in Inflammatory Diseases.

"For the last twelve years I have been more or less troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism, commencing early in the Spring, and lasting until cold weather set in, when I would be relieved for a while, only to be attacked again in the Spring. All my joints would swell and be very sore, attended with the most acute pain. My feet, shoulders, arms, and hands troubled me most, so much so that I could scarcely walk, and almost always required assistance in dressing. During this time I would try everything I could hear of, in the hope of finding a cure. I also tried several physicians, but nothing seemed to help me the least in the world. About two and a half years ago I was attacked as usual, and as usual tried everything to get rid of it, but to no purpose. I kept growing worse, and finally had to give up and stay in the house, where I was confined about four weeks. This time my feet swelled, and were so sore that I could not stand on them, or get on my boots, and my hands swelled to twice their usual size. In fact, I was, to all appearances and belief, totally used up. About this time my parents, who resido in Maine, sent for me to come home. I went and after my arrival I commenced trying another remedy, hoping to be cured, but resulting the same as all others. For weeks I had not been able to dress myself or to raise my hand to my head, and suffering the most excruciating pain all the time.—One day my father came in with a paper in which was advertised Dr. Coggswell's MEDICAL SALT, for Inflammatory Diseases only, and wanted me to read and see what I thought of it. I read and laughed at it, pronounced it a humbug, and told him that I had been humbugged enough. He kept urging me, and at last said I could but try it, and if I would write to Dr. C., giving him a description of my disease, he would pay the expense. Of course I could not refuse such an offer and sent for one box. It came in due season, but my faith was not increased, and I laughed at the idea of so small a dose doing me any good, and told my wife that I believed Dr. C. and his Salt both humbugs.—However, I commenced using it and the result was perfectly astonishing. I could hardly realize it myself. I slept soundly all night, which I had not done for a long time, and when I awoke in the morning, strange as it may seem, I was entirely free from pain. I had then taken but one dose, and bathed freely before going to bed. That morning I felt so well that I hardly knew how to contain myself, and went down stairs and told the folks how well I felt, and from that day to this I have not suffered one moment's pain or had an attack of my once dreaded enemy, Rheumatism. I am perfectly well and hearty, and wherever I have a chance I recommend it. A friend of mine, residing in Brooklyn, is now trying it for a bad case of neuralgic rheumatism, and so far it is working admirably.—This is a long story, but I have told all the facts, which I can bring witnesses to substantiate if necessary; and will again say that in the MEDICAL SALT, a sure cure may be found for all inflammatory diseases, and would urge all who are afflicted to give it a trial. GEO. H. DUNCAN,
No. 117 Wall Street, New York.

When it is remembered that the MEDICAL SALT is as efficacious in all other Inflammatory diseases as in Rheumatism, (see descriptive circulars) it will at once be seen that it is a most valuable remedy. Surely those thus afflicted will find in their own condition and in the above statements, enough to induce them to give the MEDICAL SALT a trial.

Price $1,00; Chronic packages, $2,50.

TO all wanting Farms. See advertisement of Hammonton Lands.

NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLEMENT.—To all wanting Farms, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate 25 miles Southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad New Jersey.

An old estate consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the Middle States and New England have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vineyards and Peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET,

as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Produce bringing double the price that can in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is, within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest rate, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West for this reason) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages there presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a Free Ticket for six months, and a half-price Ticket for three years.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.

In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or Founderies for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance when money is paid. Route to the land; leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia for Hammonton by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic Co., New Jersey, or S. R. Coughlin, 302 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia.—Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS! OYSTERS!
In consequence of the hard times, I have concluded to put down the price of my OYSTERS to the lowest possible standard. They will hereafter be served up on the Chafing Dish at TWENTY CENTS, and roasted in the shell and served up with all other accompaniments, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. They will also be furnished, in every other way, at prices to correspond with the times.

NEW GROCERY FEED AND PROVISION STORE.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Altoona and vicinity that he has opened a store of the above kind, near the corner of Adaline and Julia streets, East Altoona, where he will keep constantly on hand a full supply of everything in his line. His are all fresh and will be sold at prices as low as those of any other establishment in town. His stock of provisions, consisting of will be sold a little cheaper than they can be bought any where else. His Flour is obtained from the best mills in the Western part of the State, and is warranted to be what it is represented.

All kinds of Feed for horses, cows and hogs, always on hand.

I intend to keep such an assortment that I shall at all times be able to supply my customers with whatever they may need, and I intend also to sell at prices which will make it a saving to those who patronize my store.

THE SECRET INFIRMITIES OF YOUTH AND MATURITY just published Gratis the 25th Thousand.

A few words on the Rational Treatment, without Medicine of Spermatorrhœa or Local Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, Genital and Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of the System, Impotency and Impediments to marriage generally, by B. De Laney, M. D.

The important fact that many alarming complaints, originating in the imprudence and solitude of youth may be easily removed without medicine, is in this small tract, clearly demonstrated; and the entirely new and highly successful treatment as adopted by the Author, fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure himself perfectly and at the least possible cost; thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day.

Sent to any address, gratis and post free in a sealed envelope, by remitting (post paid) two postage stamps to Dr. B. DE LANEY, 88 East 31st Street, New York City.

A STONE & CO'S GLASS PRESERVING JARS, for preserving all kinds of Fresh Fruits, Vegetables, Mince Meat, Oysters, and all such perishable articles.

☞ The main secret of preserving fruit in a fresh condition consists in having it thoroughly heated when sealed up, and in expelling all the air there may be in the vessel, so that when the fruit cools it will form a vacuum.

We are now manufacturing the above Patent Jar, (having bought the right from Messrs. A. Stone & Co., and are prepared to fill all orders at short notice.

We furnish Covers, Wires and Cement, with printed directions with each Jar. Manufactured and sold Wholesale & Retail by
